Propane safety

Firefighters battle a propane fire during a Propane Safety Course Wednesday outside the Shriners Auditorium in Wilmington. Fire teams from Wilmington, Tewksbury, N. Reading, Hanscom Air Force Base, and the District 6 Hazardous Materials Support Unit practiced taming the 3,500 degree fires fed by 40 gallons per minute of propane. (photo by Jeff Nazzaro)

Historical plaques wait forever

The Wilmington Historical Commission 's plans for historical plaques on old Wilmington buildings is turning into a comedy of errors.

The Commission was allotted $400 for the program and made an agreement to have the signs made at Shawsheen Tech. The signs were made, and received last month. The members were not satisfied with the workmanship.

Member Jim Murray went to the school to discuss the subject. He reported he was told by one of the staff: "It was the wrong wood, it has become a comedy of errors - burn them up!"

Murray told the commission that "Maybe we can find someone who can do those signs professionally; maybe just a few a year, but get it done right! - Bronze maybe!"

Chairman Harris said she doesn't care "If it takes five years; get it done right!"

Further conversation included homeowners who might not want such a sign on their home. Mr. Murray proposed to call on the homeowners, one by one. "If they say no - It's goodbye! We have waited now for a year and a half!"

Carolyn Harris told him to get town property first, and to try to set an end for the town project.

West School Conservation

The old West School of Wilmington, about 125 years old, which the Mass. Historical Commission has designated an "historical building" might possibly undergo some renovations in the near future.

Assistant Town Manager Jeff Hull has been advised by the State Historical Commission that $5 million is being proposed by the legislature for preservation grants to endangered properties.

Jim Murray, in the last meeting told the Commission that Shawsheen Tech is looking for a building project for next year.

Mr. Murray, in the June 15 meeting said that a "SeaBee" organization is being started in Wilmington and possibly the West School could be a meeting place for that group. Mr. Murray also discussed the fact of septic disposal for the building and there was a problem, he said, in the parking of cars.

Outside water meters

Outside water use meters are now available for residences in Wilmington. This allows homeowners to save money on their sewer bills by installing a second meter. To learn more about this program you may contact the Water & Sewer Department at 658-4711.

Alcohol awareness – Curbing the problem driver

by Jeff Nazzaro

The Wilmington Police Department and the Governor's Highway Safety Bureau were at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus last Wednesday to promote alcohol awareness.

The program was designed to promote awareness among bar and restaurant owners, waitpersons, bartenders, and package store owners of liquor liability laws for alcohol servers.

The Governor's Highway Safety Bureau, through its' awareness program, is seeking to curb the problem of drunk driving in the Commonwealth by incorporating the cooperation of those who sell liquor.

The program featured Attorney Ronald Beitman, who specializes in liquor liability cases. Beitman spoke of the risks involved for establishments serving alcohol, and ways those risks may be minimized.

The main focus of the program was drunk driving and its' relation to responsible alcohol dispensing.

According to the law firm Distin, Babitsky, Latimer and Beitman, "over the past ten years more than a quarter million Americans have lost their lives in alcohol related crashes."

Liability in cases stemming from alcohol related motor vehicle accidents now extends to bars, restaurants, package stores, and, more recently, social hosts, including employers.

Servers of alcohol may protect themselves and their clientele by adhering to basic policies as suggested by Beitman.

These include the removal of large "specialty drinks," particularly scorpion bowls; eliminating t-shirts, signs and slogans that suggest your establishment functions towards intoxicating its' patrons.

Police ask help in preventing house breaks

by Jeff Nazzaro

"A police department is only as good as the people who report to it, " says Lt. Bob Spencer of the Wilmington Police Department.

Spencer is referring to the rash of house breaks that have taken place in Wilmington along the Interstate Rte. 93 corridor.

"I think a lot of people feel foolish," explained Spencer in regards to why residents do not report suspicious behavior in the neighborhood. But Lt. Spencer urges all townspeople to call in any suspect occurrences, particularly in neighborhoods along Rte. 93: "Let [the WPD] look into it."

In addition to reporting suspicious events, Spencer also cautions residents on strange telephone calls, suspicious-looking people or vehicles, gypsy-like people and people selling driveway sealer.

If you plan on going on vacation, Spencer warns, "have a neighbor pick-up your mail and newspapers, have someone cut your lawn; arrange for lighting to come on. Don't leave tell-tale signs that you are not home."

"We're in bad economic times and there is more theft than I would care to have," Lt. Spencer said, adding that the Wilmington Police Department is "doing what we can with the resources we have."

Rocco hospitalized

by Jeff Nazzaro

Local restauranteur Rocco DiPasquale was hospitalized early Saturday morning with what doctors have so far termed a mild heart attack.

Rocco was taken to Winchester Hospital at 3:00 a.m. on Saturday by his daughter Gina. He remains listed in fair condition in the hospital's Intensive Care Unit. Doctors are conducting tests to determine the cause of the attack.

Water, sewer rates going up

The Water & Sewer Commission at their meeting of Thursday, June 10, voted to set the FY 1994 rates at $2.83 per hundred cubic feet for water and $4.53 per hundred cubic feet for sewer. This is a 10.5% increase in the water rate and a 6.1% increase in the sewer rate. The average annual bill, based on 12,000 cubic feet, will be $339.60 for water and $543.60 for sewer. This is an increase of $32.40 annually for water and $31.20 annually for sewer. Chairman Noel Baratta praised the management of the department for the efforts to increase efficiency and reduce operation costs. He blamed the water rate increase on a decrease in consumption and an increase in the dept service payment schedule.

The sewer rate increase is due to an increase in the MWRA assessment. Superintendent Paul Niman cited a need for rate relief in the form of both federal and state funding for the Boston Harbor Clean-Up Project.

Local members attend General Federation Convention

The 101st annual meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of Massachusetts was held recently at Falmouth, and four members of the Wilmington club, President Liz White, Edith Michelson, Barbara Dayton and Marion Woller were there to celebrate the occasion.

After the Tuesday morning business meeting chaired by President Tina Macrina, Beverly Beckman, who is an award winning columnist and editorial writer for the Boston Herald addressed the group. She is also the author of "A Gift of Time," a collection of personal essays.

After luncheon, awards for arts and international affairs were announced. The 2 p.m. meeting featured Dr. Leslie Lewis, a senior policy analyst at RAND, who, while in Washington, worked as assistant to the vice president, Army Research Division. She is president of the Washington Forum, a professional women's organization.

Marge Percy of Wellfleet, Cape Cod, the Wednesday morning speaker, is a writer of poetry, fiction, essays and reviews which have been published in the New York Times, Washington Post, the Atlantic Monthly, etc.

On Tuesday evening Vic Arnell entertained. He is an original comic who has shared the stage with many stars, and has been a regular on all the major tv shows.

Anne Hazard Richardson, wife of Elliot Richardson, spoke at the Wednesday luncheon. Chairman of "Reading is Fundamental," she was honored by the Arthur and Elizabeth Schlesinger Library on the History of Women in America, with the highest honor conferred by Radcliffe College - the Helen Hobans Gilbert Award for Distinguished Volunteer Service.

At the final dinner on Wednesday evening all presidents were honored, whether state or local, and especially Faye Dissinger, first vice president of G.F.W.C. who has been a member of G.F.W.C. for nearly 30 years.

The final evening program featured the Nonpareils who belong to Sweet Adelines International. This quartette has delighted audiences with their combination of humor and barber shop harmony.

Turning room in Wilmington Square

by Capt. Larz Neilson

A recent Boston Globe article reported that the Massachusetts Highway Department has informed trucking companies that they may increase trailer lengths, from 48 feet to 53 feet. Only Massachusetts and Rhode Island, among the northeastern states have not allowed 53 footers on their highways.

The weight limits remain the same, 80,000 pounds. The 53 feet trailers will not be allowed on the Mass. Turnpike.

This may cause problems in the area of Wilmington Square. Drivers of the 48 foot trailers sometimes have difficulties, turning off Main Steet onto Church Street. Over the years, from time time, one would see the rear tires of such trucks bounce up over the granite curbings, as the driver turned north.

What will be the story when the trucks are five feet longer?

It's YOUR Money

BY JOYCE BRISBOIS
Certified Public Accountant

SOCIAL SECURITY: MONEY IN, MONEY OUT

Whatever the new administration and Congress do to the tax laws, the 1993 rates are pretty well set, especially for Social Security.

The wage base for Social Security this year has risen to $57,600, well up from '92. The tax rate for employees is 6.2 percent. The Medicare wage base rises to $135,000, paid at a rate of 1.45 percent. The biggest possible Social Security bite on an employee is $5,528.70. The self-employed pay twice as much, but half the amount can be deducted from net profit as a business expense.

Maximum monthly benefits for 1993 have risen to $1,128 for an individual, or $1,692 for a couple, assuming that the spouse is collecting on the worker's earnings. (If both partners worked and collect their own retirement benefits, the total can be much higher.)

Recipients can earn more this year without losing benefits. Those under age 65 can earn $7,680 a year; those 65 to 69 can earn $10,560; and those over 70 can earn as much as they wish without penalty.

Town Pulse & Opinion

letter to the editor

Dear Larz:

I find myself compelled to answer a letter to the editor from Mr. Longo that was printed in your paper last week .

Mr. Longo, as many of you know, is the chairman of the planning board. He felt that I didn't have my facts straight relative to a meeting that took place June 14, 1993 at a selectman's meeting.

The truth of the matter is that if Mr. Longo felt I didn't have the facts of that meeting correct, why didn't he respond to me and correct me during the public meeting at which he was in attendance instead of writing a letter to the editor the following day? Also, why didn't Mr. Longo specifically mention those "incorrect facts" in his letter? His letter had no meaning.

Mr. Longo wants to change the zoning of Wilmington to accommodate developers. The issue of the June 14, 1993 meeting was talk about the center (once again) and a town wide zoning change. I said that as we approach the year 2000, we should do something with the center, but keep in mind the residences and businesses that exist there today like Action Glass, Wilmington Grain, the Beauty depot and Joe Ryan's Barber Shop. I asked what we would do with them if all the changes take place. Response - no answer. Regarding Joe Ryan, I asked what do we do with him if all the changes take place? Again the response, was no answer.

Here we have a guy who has had a business here for over 30 years; has a home in Wilmington, and pays taxes here. What do we do with him? Kick him out on the street? I think not! Also, there was discussion of a zoning change. One member of the planning board said that no dramatic change would take place if we adopt new zoning changes, to which I replied "of course there would be a dramatic change! For example, on the subject of motels for, you would reduce the requirement of a motel by 50 percent. Under the present bylaw, a motel is allowed on a 120,000 square foot parcel. Under this proposed changed adopted by Mr. Longo, you would allow motels to be built on only 60,000 square feet. So instead of Rt. 38 Main Street starting to look like Tewksbury's Main Street it would look worse; more like Route 1. The sad thing, I said, is that you want to turn the town upside down to accommodate developers.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not against development, but I'm for orderly development. Whatever happened to the days when I was on the planning board with people like Dave Clark and Anthony Gentile when we cared and represented people and neigbor-hoods?

I hope the time hasn't come when the sign at the Wilmington Town Hall comes down and we put up a new sign that reads" Wilmington Real Estate Company." So, Mr. Longo, you and I know where you're coming from. Instead of turning this town upside down, try to help people in this community, not like what you said about the people of Buckingham Road.

Selectman,
Michael McCoy

The June 27, 1968 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

Everything seemed to have been straightened out on the Nichols Street Bridge with the abutters all happy. About 20 residents of the area attended the hearing at the Cambridge Court House regarding landtakings for the right-of-way of the bridge and the new 22 foot clearance ruling for Boston & Maine trains.

Frances McLeau of Temple Street was accepted at Northeastern University School of Nursing.

William Hanlon of Sprucewood Road was appointed to the Planning Board by TM Sterling Morris.

Jim Phillips of the Little League Ravens pitched a perfect game against the Eagles - and lost. Errors and a hit batter accounted for the score.

Robert Cuoco of Lawrence Street was named to the dean's list at UMass.

Ellen Bradley of Oakwood Road was appointed librarian of the Elbert Advertising Agency of Waltham.

Stanley Delaronde, formerly of No. Wilmington was appointed postmaster of Brewster by President Johnson on June 18.

Elia's offered tomatoes at 39 cents a pound; bananas, 10 cents a pound and fresh mackerel at 19 cents a pound.

At Lucci's Market, one could purchase a two pound bag of frankfurts for 98 cents; chuck steak at 69 cents a pound or chuck hamburg, $3.49 a five pound pail.

The good news, bad news education reform bill

by Kevin John Sowyrda

If there's good news for Wilmington and Tewksbury in the recently enacted education reform bill, it has been hidden carefully behind a pile of bad news.

For starters, Wilmington stands to gain $272,172 in state education aid, but only if the town first votes a school budget that is $592,689 higher than the present fiscal year. The new school budget is fortunately up, but falls short of the state expectation.

The same money problem exists in Tewksbury where the Commonwealth will hold out a carrot of $738,287 in exchange for a whopping school budget hike of $667,199.

"The bill is absurd because it totally violates home rule," said Shawsheen Tech Superintendent Charles Lyons. Lyons, who is also a selectman in Arlington, said the education plan authored by legislative leaders Mark Roosevelt and Tom Birmingham is unfair because it "bails out" cities and towns which cut their school budgets over past years while "penalizing communities that maintained school funding. "If you victimize kids over the years, your budget gets a lot of money, and if you treated kids with dignity and compassion by funding schools, you get coal in your stockings," said Lyons.

The ironic premises behind the education reform bill is that the school should increase its' financial aid to local school systems which have historically been managed at the local level. Presently, of the $5 billion spent in Massachusetts on public education, $1.2 billion comes from the state. Under the new school bill, the state's burden is modestly increased to only $1.4 billion, with the burden by far still remaining on the breaking backs of municipal budgets. "The problem is that you can't pay for 25 percent of something and demand to have 100 percent of the say," said Lyons.

State Rep. Rob Krekorian (R) is one of a handful of legislators who opposed the education reform package, because it "failed to appropriate money" and will have a negative impact because it pits the municipal side of local budgets against the school side. "I don't think there was enough attention paid to what impact this can have on the municipal side of the budget in terms of police and fire," said Krekorian. "For the communities I represent, structural reform without money will do nothing to enhance the quality of education."

This so-called town side, school debate is nothing new to Wilmington and Tewksbury, where such confrontations are almost common place at town meetings. The new education reform bill will only exacerbate this problem, because communities will have to make cuts in other municipal services to meet the new and reasonable funding requirements of the state's education law.

Another down side to the legislation is how it intensifies the attack on the traditional powers of local school committees. Critics like Charlie Lyons see a syndrome developing on Beacon Hill, where education leaders like Rep. Roosevelt and Sen. Birmingham are convinced that every Bay State school committee emulates the controversial committees which were infamous in Chelsea and Boston. "Because school committees didn't work in Chelsea and Boston, Birmingham and Roosevelt decided they don't work anywhere else," said Lyons.

Geoff Beckwith, a former local legislator who now heads the Massachusetts Municipal Association, said the education reform bill is good and bad depending on your perspective. "If you're just spending more money on the schools, no matter what, it's a good bill; but if you're for allowing officials and voters to make reasoned judgments about how to spend their own money, then the bill is deeply flawed." Education reform has matured from a minor political speaking point of years ago to a front burner issue of today. For this reason, legislators in Boston agonized to pass some semblances of education reform to address the modern problems of public education. However, eroding local control and threatening the maintenance of other municipal budget line items is not the way to go.

Briefly in Politics

The appointment of Dell Drive resident John Walsh to fill the unexpired term of Walter Kaminski on the Wilmington Finance Committee by Fincom Chairman George Hooper, Selectmen Chairman Chet Bruce and Moderator Jim Stewart, was a solid choice. Walsh is a fiscal guru given his background as a comptroller for a high tech company. Add to this Walsh's lack of political connections, and he's sure to prove himself as a valued addition to the town's fiscal planning board.

More intriguing, however, was the three year appointment handed to former selectman candidate Tony Capuano. The three time also-ran will be sure to liven up those dreadfully boring public hearings next March. Question of the week: Did his neighbor and long time nemesis Jim Stewart support the appointment?

Capuano's nomination leaves only Mark Haldane from last year's field of selectmen candidates as a potential repeater in 1994.

Art exhibit June 26 - 27

It is with justifiable pride that the Wilmington Council for the Arts presents its annual art exhibition. This year marks the 13th annual exhibition which will be held Saturday, June 26 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Sunday, June 27 from 1 to 4 p.m. Over the years the shows have become increasingly popular, drawing hundreds of spectators to the lovely main gallery which houses the juried exhibition at the Arts Center. There is no admission fee and everyone is welcome; the center is handicap accessible.

Although the show is being held this year on the weekend preceding the Fourth of July weekend, it seems a fitting precursor to the Fourth's celebration in Wilmington. This is a quiet and reflective time, and it's fun to be there! and uplifting too.

The works of professionals and non-professionals will be shown as will those of students who have participated in the arts classes sponsored by the Arts Council throughout the year. This will include children's work as well as adult's. All work will be judged by three professional artists. The media will be oils, acrylics, watercolors, pastels, charcoal, pen and ink, pencil, and photography.

At last year's show many little boys and little girls gazed in awe at the prize winning portrait of Roger Clemens. The Arts Center is located in the old Wilmington Town Hall on Middlesex Avenue, across from the Congregational Church.

It was on a misty moonlit night, many years ago by a quiet pond, unknown to most townsfolk, an unusual event transpired. While the full summer moon looked down at itself in the mirror survace and listened to the steeple clock in the distance chime 12, unexpectedly, the shiny reflection was shattered by a shadowy form rising out of the water. A lady, whose auburn tresses cascaded about shoulders, was wearing a flowing gown which shimmered in the moon light and in her hand - a lighted candle. As she walked across the field, flowers appeared by her feet, and the landscape was transmuted to peaceful beauty.

To this day...one can see the lady from the Stillwater...on a Stillwaaer Co. creation 100 percent cotton t-shirt, water blue on oatmeal Stillwater, $10.00 at Vintage Etc., Cambridge and Stillwater Garden, Wilmington.

Continental Cable receives ACE Distinguished Achievement award

Continental Cablevision has been awarded cable television's most prestigious national honor, the Cable ACE Distinguished Achievement award from the National Academy of cable Programming, for its successful and ongoing effort to save the Stone Zoo.

The distinguished Achievement award recognizes a cable system, project, company or individual that has made a significant contribution to the community through its local programming efforts. Only one such award is given each year in the United States.

"Our work on behalf of Stone Zoo and wildlife preservation is a perfect example of how cable television's video and grassroots community resources can produce something of real benefit and value to the people and towns we serve," said Mike Leone, Continental;'s local government and public affairs manger. "We are absolutely thrilled that our project has been singled out for this most prestigious of national awards."

The Stoneham Zoo had fallen into disrepair and faced extinction for lack of state operating funds when Continental began its campaign.

Continental's "Stone Zoo Re-Discovery" campaign not only raised $25,000 to revitalize the zoo - the donation funded a new aviary and a new South American Grasslands exhibit - but so successfully demonstrated community support that it was cited as a factor in the Mass. Legislature's decision to create the new Commonwealth Zoological Corporation to finance and manage the state's two zoos.

Centerpiece and kickoff for the project was "Stone Zoo Re-Discovery Day" at the zoo, which included participation from The Discovery Channel, The Disney Channel, and Loretta Switt, MASH star and host of the Discovery Channel's "Those Incredible Animals."

Continental and Discovery also sponsored a "Kids for Conservation" contest in which area school children wrote public service announcement scripts on conservation and the environment.

Doing what you love and loving what you do is important in a small business. Brenda Freitas does. She's been in photography since 1965, and she opened her photo shop in 1981. Her business has expanded, as all businesses did in the 80's, and she's still here!

You know that you can buy film at Tewksbury Camera and Video. And of course cameras. But its the little things that surprise you. How about a flash bulb for that old Brownie? Yes, it's in there! And the film? You guessed it! Is that old 8 mm or Super 8 movie camera collecting dust in your closet? Get it out and have some fun with it. If you have an old camera and would like to try using it, Brenda has the supplies needed. If it's broken... it can be fixed.

Repairs have become a major part of the business... cameras, camcorders, VCR's, and even computers. Any brand can be repaired, whether or not it is sold by Tewksbury Camera & Video. Brenda now sells Apple and Apple Macintosh computers and accessories.

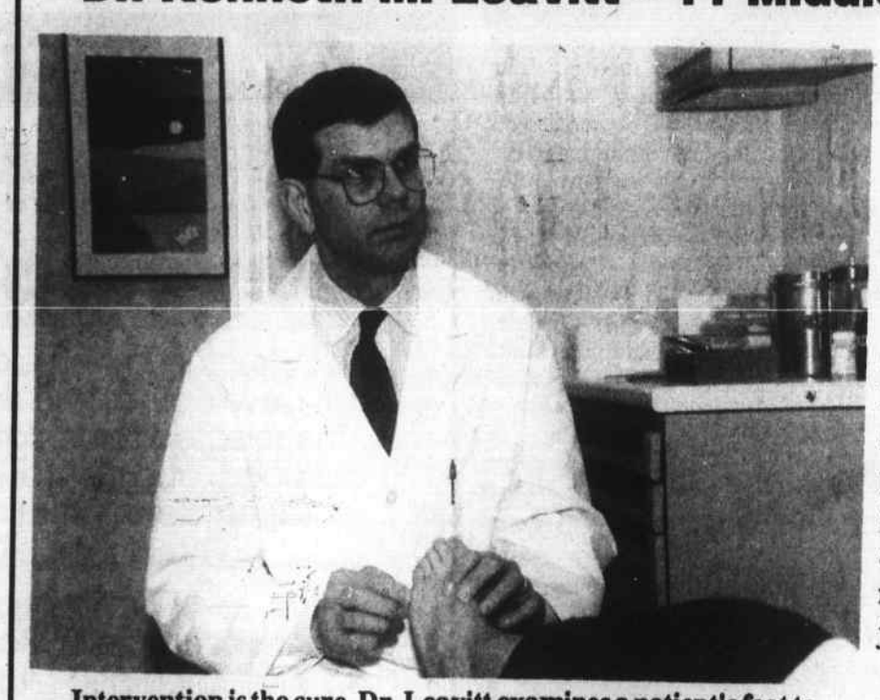

Video rentals are still hot. You can rent the latest releases here, too. Here's the twist: Training Tapes. Do you know how to run Lotus 123? Pagemaker? you can learn by watching a video! You can rent it at Tewksbury Camera & Video!

As you would expect, Brenda sells cameras and video equipment. Kodak, Fuji, Pentax, Ricoh, Polaroid and all the accessories including film, tape and all the extra toys. The best thing in the store is the expert advice. Buying camera equipment from a large chain may save you a dollar if you know exactly what you need, but don't count on a department store clerk to know the difference between ISO and Lumens. Come to Tewksbury Camera & Video for clarity!

Framed by her work; Brenda Freitas focuses her business on service.

Intervention is the cure. Dr. Leavitt examines a patient's foot to determine what is the cause of the pain and then eliminates the pain.

Wilmington native Ken Leavitt has been practicing medicine for 10 years in his home town. When many others who become doctors rush off to the big cities to seek the big bucks, Dr. Leavitt has established himself here, at home.

His specialty is podiatry, problems of the foot. Ingrown toenails and heel pain are common problems he treats but his real area of interest is in surgery. Dr. Leavitt has operating privileges at Winchester Hospital and New England Memorial Hospital.

He prides himself on being the only podiatrist with an independent office in Wilmington or Tewksbury. He is also proud of being Board Certified. Not every doctor is. It's his work in quality assurance that is passion. Providing relief from pain, correcting problems and doing it right the first time. He isn't happy with telling a patient "Sorry, that's all we can do." High quality is achieved by continuing education, attending conferences and reading all the publications available on podiatry. Dr. Leavitt does just that.

A benefit of the quality assurance is cost effectiveness. Having a problem fixed right the first time is also cheaper than going back over and over again. Not that every problem can be done that way but when it can, the doctor should know how to do it.

Should you feel the need to see a doctor about a foot problem, call Dr. Leavitt for a conveninet appointment right here in town at (508) 658-9774

Wilmington summer school offers makeup, enrichment

The Wilmington Public Schools will again offer summer courses for both makeup credit and enrichment. A full range of enrichment and remedial courses will be available for grades six through 12 at the North Intermediate School, Salem Street (Rte. 125), Wilmington, Massachusetts.

It is not the intent of the summer session to supplement/replace the requirements of a full year's course, but to allow a student who has had difficulty during the year to gain credit toward promotion or graduation and provide others with an enriching experience. To take a course for credit requires approval of the student's principal and/or guidance counselor. Wilmington Summer School will forward grades to each student's school. A grade of sixty (60) or better is required to pass the summer session, however, students from other communities/schools may have different requirements and should consult with their principal or counselor to determine what is required.

All classes begin Monday, July 12 and end Wednesday, August 12. There will be two (2) sessions; Session I (7:30 to 9:30 a.m.) and Session II (9:45 to 11:45 a.m.). Please call the West Intermediate School at 694-6050 for a registration form and complete course descriptions. Course tuition for remedial/credit is $100 per course. Two (2) week enrichment courses will be $50 each and a $10 registration fee is required of all applicants. Registration forms are available in the guidance offices of all Wilmington Schools.

Cranberries in 1790

by Capt. Larz Neilson

Joe Aubut is a well known resident of Tewksbury. He owns a store on Main Street. And, like hundreds of other Tewksbury residents he enjoys reading the stories in the Town Crier.

On March 24 the Town Crier had a story about the old cranberry bogs of Wilmington. Old cranberry bogs were described, one of them being the Shawsheen Avenue bog, now no longer under cultivation. This writer guessed it is about 200 years old.

Joe is a gentleman who likes to delve into old books. He came across a story about a month ago which described the experiences of a young man who brought some cranberries to Boston, back in the 1790s. The book had been printed in Boston, back in 1851, and Joe realized that this might be some information for Larz.

The book has now been turned over to the "tender mercies" of this writer.

"The New England Farmer" was a semi monthly journal, something like a newspaper, which told of "Agriculture, Horticulture, and their kindred arts and sciences." It reported on activities about agricultural and farming, in the Mass State House, and from correspondents far and wide. Mr. Silas Brown, living in what is now the Harnden Tavern, was a correspondent, as were other men.

The item which had caught Joe's eye was written in May 1851 by James Walker of Fryeburg Island, Maine.

James told of taking cranberries from Wilmington to Boston on horseback, back in 1790 or thereabouts. Cranberries, he declared, were a "spontaneous production of the meadows of Wilmington."

That was the phrase which caught Joe Aubut's eye.

James told of going through Woburn, and that place known as Newbridge, which is now called North Woburn. The Thompson families, it turned out, "had plenty of cranberries. Their farms were off Elm Street. James, when he got to Boston was unable to sell any cranberries.

It just so happens that this writer, many years ago traced the family of which he as a member. The Walker family landed in Lynn in 1630, lived in what is now Wakefield and/or Stoneham, and arrived in Woburn about 1660.

Interesting. They moved into the "Maple Meadow Plain" about 1680, and constructed the home in which Stanley and George Webber lived, and which was torn down in recent years.

There are also tales of carrying cranberries to Boston by the 'canal." He doesn't identify the "canal," but anyone can guess it was the Middlesex. One of the early cargoes, so it seems

More, hopefully, will be published.

James Walker of Fryeburg Island, Maine was born Jan. 3, 1772, in the home which was known to everyone as the Alden Eames house, on Shawsheen Avenue, Wilmington, and which burned down sometime about 1971. It had been constructed shortly after 1730 by the Walker family of Wilmington.

His father was Timothy Walker and his mother was born Eunice Brewster of Duxbury, Mass. James was less than two and a half years old on Concord Day, when his father marched with other members of the Wilmington militia, to fight the British.

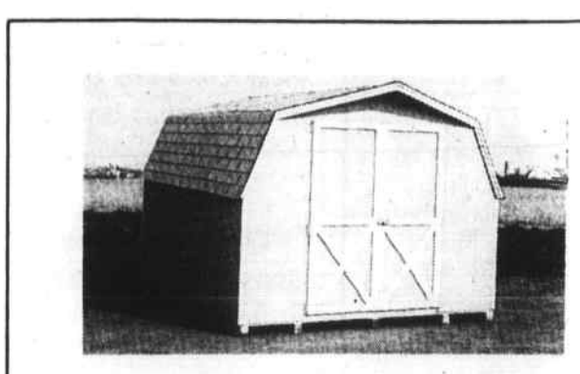

He evidently moved from Wilmington just prior to 1800.

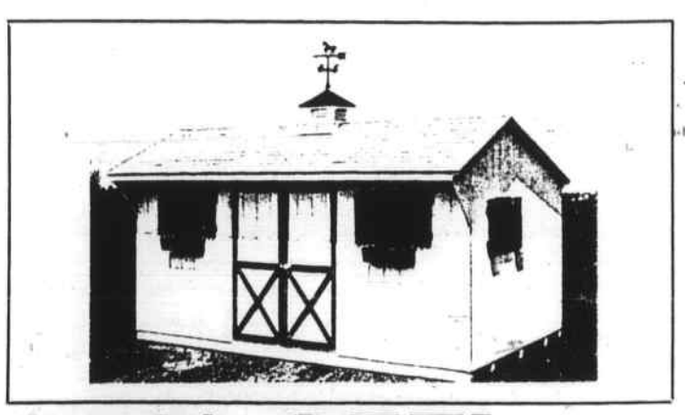

The Walker School, recently destroyed, was named for two men who were born after James had moved.

WHS solar car on track

by Jeff Nazzaro

The clear skies and bright sun Friday meant more than just a good beach day for Wilmington High School teacher Mr. Bob Mills and his Automotive shop class. The weather offered perfect conditions for the group to show off their third and fourth term project--a solar car.

Beginning at 8:30 on the WHS track, the solar car ran for 27 miles, until 1:00, on a single charge.

With Junior Dan Haas at the wheel, the class was thrilled, undoubtedly for the first time, to be monitored by police radar.

Officer Harris of the Wilmington Police clocked the car, which is powered by three 30 watt solar panels, at 18 miles per hour--not exactly a speeding violation, but faster than the 15 mph the car had run previously.

The solar car came about when Mr. Mills decided to combine the third and fourth term projects into a single effort reflective of "the times and technology."

The class, which consists of five seniors and six juniors, spent approximately half a term researching the project in the library, before designing the car's body with computers.

The solar car's body is a donated golf cart that class members modified for aerodynamics using a computerized wind-tunnel simulator.

Mr. Mills put the project together on a shoe-string budget, relying heavily on donations and his own imagination. JJT Engineering of Wilmington "saved the program," according to Mills, who added, "[JJT Engineering] has been extremely generous." The local firm donated all the metals used for the solar car project.

Mr. Mills, who is scheduled to be laid off at the end of this school year, is not sure who will assume leadership of the project if he is not back. Still, he hopes to one day see the Wilmington High School Solar Car entered in the Tour de Sol, a Boston to Burlington, Vermont solar car race.

The car that ran the fewest miles in the most recent Tour de Sol was built by a team from the University of Vermont. That car went 22 miles on a single charge, compared to the 27 achieved by Mr. Mills' class' effort.

Regardless of what happens in the future, Mr. Mills has no regrets and is proud of his class.

Mills concluded by saying, "I'm happy. The kids were happy; and, they learned something."

Juggling grandmother will try devil sticks again – later

by Nancy Stewart

Juggling is one of my joys. While I have mastered only basic juggling, this ability has had a positive impact on my life. It is great aerobic exercise for both the upper body and the mind. Perhaps the ability to juggle has prepared me for the new direction I am about to undertake.

My name is Nancy B. Stewart. For the past 28 years, I, along with my husband, Jim, and my two daughters, Dianne and Skye have called North Reading home. Prior to that, I grew up in the City of Boston and attended Boston University. Volunteer work in the community of North Reading and being a consultant for children's art programs became a rich and fulfilling part of my life.

As my life approached a half century, I decided to relax a bit and further develop my juggling skills. This time, my goal was the more difficult devil sticks. Everything was going as planned. Then my whole life changed.

David arrived. In a flash I became an extended family grandmother. Next came Kathryn. Now, I am also a maternal grandmother. Both these children are the center of my universe and they bring fun, laughter and delight into my life.

It seemed my juggling skills were at risk of ending. Just as in juggling, when everything comes crashing down, you take a deep breath of air, pick up the objects and begin again.

Recently, I made a decision to be a stay-at-home grandmother with Kathryn, while her mother works full time. Not an easy choice in the 90s. A time that forces women to juggle home, career and babies. During this full time care giving, I realized there was little news and information available in communities for grandparents in similar situations.

The joy of juggling continues for me each time I attempt to teach my grandchildren, David and Kathryn, to juggle. They laugh and giggle and we cheer each other on. And I still have that set of devil sticks for tomorrow's challenges.

Readers can reach Nancy Stewart with ideas for her new column at 658-2346. Any story leads concerning young people, mothers and grandmothers would be welcomed.

World's best BBQ chicken

by Bill Conlon

As one of baseball's philosophers once said it, it ain't braggin' if you can prove it.

Here is the best barbeque chicken on Earth. No brag, just fact.

My father, a well-known Lowell physical therapist, God rest him, taught me how to make this dish, with the warning that the barbeque sauce is a secret. Members of my family have tried for decades to pry this recipe out of me, but without success. I even kick my wife out of the kitchen when I make this.

But, to immortalize Bill "Sonny" Conlon in the annals of history, I shall now reveal to the world "Big Bill's Barbeque Sauce," which he said he learned in Texas during a stint with the U.S. Army.

Before you make the sauce, better get the chicken ready. I calculate a half-chicken per adult, roughly. Cut the bird into serving-size pieces and boil it for 15 minutes, then set the chicken aside. (Save the broth for soup.) Cooking raw chicken takes forever on a grill, but the par-boiling solves that problem. The bird is nearly cooked when placed on the grill.

The sauce. Sorry, Dad. Gotta.

--- Big Bill's BBQ Sauce ---

In a one-quart bowl, add and stir:
2 Tbsp. of vegetable oil
1 tsp. pickle juice (or vinegar)
A 16-ounce bottle or bigger of catsup (tomato sauce can be used)
3 Tbsp. of sugar
1 Tbsp. Oregano (i.e. lots)
1 clove of garlic, bashed (or you can use 1/2 tsp. garlic powder)
1/2 cup of beer (the rest of it goes into the cook)
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. soy sauce
1 tsp. A-1 Steak Sauce and a sprinkling each of:

Ground clove	Chili powder
Allspice	Parsley flakes
Celery salt	Sage
Cayenne pepper	Marjoram
Tabasco	Rosemary
Black pepper	and Basil

Variation of spices is allowed, but no mustard. Also, this is the first time ever that measurements have been given, so distrust them. For 30 years, I've always "winged it" and done all measurements by eye. Feel free to try variations such as honey instead of the sugar.

Mix everything well, then let the sauce sit, at room temperature, for at least 10 minutes, to bring up the flavors of all the spices. This should be enough sauce for two chickens of average size. The sauce should be fairly thick, with catsup or beer to thicken or thin it, respectively.

This sauce works best on chicken, but it also goes well over ribs.

--- The Cooking ---

Use a medium heat barbecue, and set the grating to medium height. It will take about a half-hour to cook the chicken, depending upon heat.

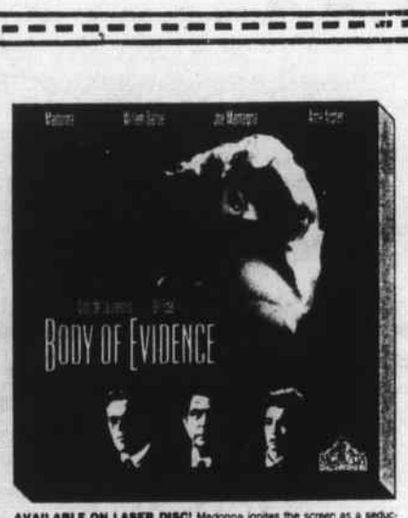

Since the chicken is parboiled, it's nearly cooked already. Your goal with the barbeque is to flavor the meat and heat it up. Parboiling also means no "red" along the bone, and raw chicken is easy to undercook.

With a basting brush, cover the "meat" side of the chicken with the barbeque sauce, then place it meat side down on the grill. Don't miss any spots. After all the pieces are on the grill, brush the "bone" side (up side) with sauce. This "meat side-bone side" trick helps you to keep track of which side is facing the heat, to prevent overcooking. All pieces are either face up or face down at the same time. Simple.

Turn the chicken over when the down side begins to blacken. The sugar in the sauce means the meat (actually the sauce) blackens easily so don't get upset by it. Just brush extra sauce onto the blackened parts and carry on. If the entire piece is solid black, lower the heat or turn the chicken more often, and again add extra sauce. A little blackening is needed, but too much is a no-no. Swab sauce into all the little nooks and crannies.

Add a fresh coating of barbeque sauce before flipping the chicken, because the heat dries out the sauce, then it's just baste and flip, baste and flip. There should be blackened spots on every piece.

Before serving, give the chicken one last coating of sauce, then flip it for a few seconds before you toss it on the serving platter. This gives the meat a "shiny" patina of sauce as a finalé.

TMHS: Ryan McNeal, Ellen Keefe, Will Holden, Cathy Butt, Lisa Connors and Jennifer Pierce.

WHS: Joseph Accardi, AnnMarie Barletta, Jacqueline DiLeo, Matthew Finn, Alyssa Georgelis and Ernest Merrill.

The Tewksbury/Wilmington Lodge of Elks host the students and their families Thursday June 10. The awarding of the U.S. Savings Bond and a plaques was followed by dinner.

This is all made possible by our Past Exalted Ruler for the year 1992-93, George Cangiano and the members of the Tewksbury/ Wilmington Lodge of Elks #2070.

Wilmington senior topics

Fair Committee buffet

The Fair Committee is in the process of signing up for its annual therapeutic social. In previous years this has been a barbecue. Due to the extreme heat the committee had to endure, this year it was decided to have buffet luncheon of a variety of sliced meats, potato and tossed salads, roll and butter, coffee or cold drinks and assorted pastries.

When signing up, if you have not already done so, you will be asked to donate $1. With this money drawings will be held throughout the day. Another feature the committee will be adding to the day's activities is entertainment. Some of the seniors are already practicing their talents together, but would love to have any other seniors with a talent they could contribute to make this a happy day for all.

Many of our seniors have not seen our dance and exercise classes perform their many routines. They may put together some of them as part of the day's entertainment

Misconception

It has been said that the therapeutic socials are not including disabled or shutin seniors. That, in my opinion is a misconception. Every social held for our seniors is called a therapeutic social. The reason for using the word therapeutic is that it is just that, therapy for all disabled and shutins and all the rest of us who may need some type of therapy. It may be help for a physically impaired, depression or loneliness or one living alone in their home, abuse, family trouble, recuperating from a serious illness or one with a terminal illness and even one who is trying to overcome an addiction.

To find a person to talk to who is not a relative, someone who may have gone through or going through the personal problem or if it is only to laugh, dance or sing, it is therapy and it is for all. I have said in this column that if you have to work between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. call the center and speak to the director, and if you have no transportation of your own and no family or friend to transport you, call me at the center. I will do everything I can to get seniors to and from the socials.

Nutrition class

The next nutrition class will be held in the craft room Tuesday morning, June 22 at 9. With the party days of summer upon us, we may forget to watch our fat and sugar intake at outside barbecues. Hamburgers, hot dogs and steaks and all those delicious desserts along with those ice cream sundaes and banana splits are all loaded with fats and sugar. Be careful what you can or cannot eat now, or it may bring you much pain in later months. Join the nutrition class and learn the proper foods to eat for a healthy life.

Podiatrist canceled
Dr. Casey

Dr. Casey, podiatrist has canceled this week, but will be at the center June 30 from 10 a.m. Please make an appointment. He was coming to the center once a month, but to arrive and find only one or two seniors to see him is frustrating. He has changed his time at the center to five or six weeks. Hoping to see more patients who have called ahead.

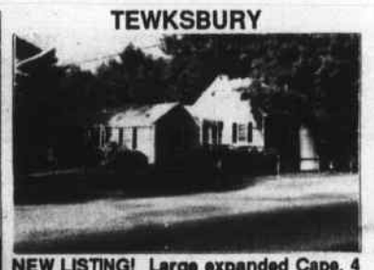

Nurse at the center

Nurse Ann will be at the center Tuesday, June 29 to give cholesterol screenings. Call ahead to see her also.

NOVENA to ST. JUDE

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us, and St. Jude, the worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, helper of the hopeless, pray for us.

Say this prayer nine times a day, by the 8th day your prayer will have been answered. This prayer has never been known to fail. Publication promised. My prayers have been answered.

Wilmington Little League

Cubs hang on to top Giants, 14-10

Girls' softball
Minor League
Cubs 14 Giants 10

The hard hitting Cubs avenged their only loss of the season to the Giants by spanking out six extra base hits in their 14-10 win. The hitting attack was led by a grand slam from Kara Langone, a three-run homer from Kristin Thomas, triples from Nicole Deblois and Crystal McKracken, and doubles from Kristin Thomas and Alicia Long. Kristie Langone pitched in with three singles. Catcher Maura Lynch threw out two Giants at second base.

The Giants were led by two hits from Allison Giordano and Lauren McCarthy, a homerun from Emily King and singles from Krista Wolfe, Melissa Wolfe and Rebecca Lord.

Giants 19 Mariners 5

The Giants' bats sizzled as they won their eighth game. Emily King and Kristen Walsh delivered four hits each, while Lauren McCarthy and Laura Abbott followed with three hits each. Nicole Costa singled and scored to start the Giants' eight run fifth inning.

Pitching by Melissa Wolfe, with help from Krista Wolfe and Meredith McKenna held the Mariners to five runs.

The Mariners' defense was anchored by pitcher Julie Johnson and first baseman Karen Hardy who made three great plays in a row in the fourth inning. Leah Staffier made several fine plays at shortstop.

Giants 3 Blue Jays 2

In a nail biting game, the Giants were forced into extra innings by the much-improved Blue Jays. Emily King's single up the middle in the bottom of the seventh inning gave the Giants the victory. Emily also knocked in solo runs in the first and fourth innings.

Both starting pitchers were under control for six full innings. The Giants' Melissa Wolfe struckout 10 batters and scored the winning run. Blue Jays' Jackie Eldridge struckout 13 and her tying homerun in the fifth would still be rolling if the fence hadn't stopped it.

Lauren McCarthy got the win in the relief, catching the last out on a smash to the pitcher's mound. The girls played a terrific game.

Angels 10 Padres 9

The Angels nipped the Padres, 10-9 in girls softball play. The Angels made some key defensive plays to shutdown the powerful Padres' offense.

Megan Sullivan came on in relief in the second inning to pitch a fine game. She made an unbelievable catch of a line drive off the bat of Michelle Fonzi to end the game. Offensive stars were Shauna O'Donnell with a triple, Katie Hickey with two hits, and Marlene O'Rourke with two RBI's.

The Padres' Colleen Cahill was outstanding on the mound with seven strikeouts. Leading the way offensively for the Padres were Courtney Gilligan with two hits, Charlene Tamilio with two hits and Jessica Garbati with four RBI's. Defensive honors went to Alicia Paquin, Lisa Dineen and Stephanie Sordillo.

Angels 14 Padres 10

The Angels outscored the Padres in a close contest, 14-10. The game was highlighted by good defensive plays and powerful offense by both teams.

Offensive honors for the Angels were Katie Blair with three hits, Jodi MacKenzie with a homerun and Marlene O'Rourke with two hits. Defensively, Meghan Sullivan, Kristen O'Toole and Robin Mainini came up with key plays to stop the Padres' rallies.

Padres pitching ace Jackie Ingram was outstanding in defeat. Courtney Gilligan with two hits, Alicia Paquin with two RBI's and Melissa Hanrahan, two hits led the powerful Padres' offense. Colleen Cahill and Stefanie Sordillo made spectacular catches to shutdown the Angels' offense.

Padres 12 Blue Jays 11

Jessica Garbati's bunt single scored Melissa Hanrahan with the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning with two outs. The game was highlighted by offense from both teams.

The batting stars for the Blue Jays were Jill Cauldwell with two hits, Jennifer Johnson with two hits and Aimee Coutu with a hit and two runs scored. Blue Jays' star Jackie Eldridge was sidelined with a sprained finger.

Pitcher Jackie Ingram chalked up another victory with a fine performance on the mound. Offensive leaders for the Padres were Charlene Tamilio with two hits, Erin Doyle with two hits and Melissa Hanrahan with two. The defensive play of the game was made by Meghan Cahill with a spectacular running catch with the bases loaded and two outs.

Major League
A's 6 White Sox 1

The A's big right hander Ralph Sirigiamo scattered three hits while striking out 12 White Sox, putting an end to the six game winning streak. Kevin Riley (two hits), Peter Grasso, Mike Wilcox, Tim Riley, and Ralph all collected hits for the A's.

The Sox pitching tandem of Terry Bochard and Dan Sweet struck out 15 A's, but were the victims of poor defense as the A's win streak ran to 10. Mickey Moroney, Eric Banda and Jason Harris collected the Sox hits.

Farm League
Brewers 15 Blue Jays 11

The Brewers turned in another strong team performance, besting the Blue Jays. Paul Sferrazza had a single, a double and a triple and Mike Senarian had a homer for the Brewers. The Blue Jays had strong batting performances from David Velardo and Tim Rose, both going three for three.

Brent Holloway and Greg Buck turned in fine defensive games for the Brewers, while Joel Guzinski, Ryan Boudreau and Roland Smith did the same for the Blue Jays.

Minor League
Astros 13 Giants 9

The Astros' attack was led by Paul DeGennero, Eric Veator and Chris Ramsdell. Great pitching by Justin Harrison.

The Giants provided too little too late. Giants' power was led by Mike Mahoney, Steve Brady, Dan Tello, Eric Gandreau and Andrew Burns.

Giants vs. Braves

The Giants' three run rally in the fourth inning was the turning point in this game that gave the Giants the lead and the victory. Pitcher Steve Hansen closed the door on the Braves, throwing a one hit shutout and striking out eight.

Giants' power was led by Eric Collins with three hits and Greg LeFave, Steve Brady and Michael Gable each with two hits.

The Braves played an excellent game and were in it all the way because of Braves hitters Muse, Parker and Cannon.

Giants vs. Pirates

A two-run homer by Steve Brady in the fifth inning gave the Giants an exciting come from behind victory over the Pirates. A no-hitter by pitcher Steve Hansen for the last three innings set the stage for the Giants' rally. Giants' offense included Dan Tello, Mike Mahoney, Eric Collins and Greg LeFave.

National softball tourney headed for Wilmington

by Bill Conlon

Labor Day weekend, 1994, may be a very busy time in Tewksbury and Wilmington.

Tewksbury selectmen on Tuesday night heard a proposal to bring the national softball league playoffs to the two towns next fall, if the details can be worked out.

Wilmington developer Jay Tighe, representing the Amateur Softball Association, said at least five fields in Tewksbury will be needed over the Labor Day weekend in 1994 for the playoffs, and another six fields in Wilmington will be used as well.

Tighe said some 80 teams made up of 1,800 players will be taking part in the playoffs on 11 fields in both towns, along with 50 umpires and officials. Up to 4,000 spectators per day can be expected to visit the 11 fields, which will see a total of 150 playoff games from September 1 to 5, 1994.

The business benefits to the town would be enormous, Tighe said. The playoffs would fill 700 to 800 motel rooms per night, and he added that "you won't be able to sit down in a restaurant in town all weekend."

Tighe said four fields at Livingston Street park are being eyed, along with the Thomas E. Conlon ballfield on Victor Drive. He added that the Elks field off South Street might also be put to use. Existing sod infields would be torn up, Tighe said, and replaced with all stone-dust infields for the duration of the softball playoffs. League regulations call for only stone-dust infields, but the sod would be replaced after the playoffs are done, he said.

However, Tighe said he wants the town to waive the rental fee for the fields, and that other details such as traffic are being worked out with the town manager. Tighe said the ASA requires 50 percent of the gate receipts, adding that he is personally financing the playoffs in Tewksbury and Wilmington.

Selectman Chairman Tom Conlon asked the town manager to issue a plan for the playoff proposal within a few months.

Caravan Camp June 25

The Reading YMCA will be holding a Caravan Camp starting Friday, June 25 and continuing through Friday, June 30. A full day program will be offered for No. Reading, Stoneham and Wilmington children from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. for Friday June 25 and Monday June 28-Wednesday, June 30. A full day program will be offered for all towns Thursday, June 29 and Friday June 30.

All children will need to register for a minimum of two days. Fees for YMCA members and Child Care Participants will be $15 and the fee for the general public will be $20 per day. This program is a great bridge between school and summer camp programs for the children and parents alike. Registration space is limited and is ongoing, please call the YMCA 944-7989.

Congratulations on your great come-back!

Tourney trap

Four-year-old Michael Johnson of Tewksbury checks on his shot that disapeared during the MDA Golf Tourney. There was plenty of fun and plenty of money raised.

MDA golf a success in first Tewksbury try

Saturday, June 19 marked the first Wamesit Miniature Golf Tournament to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Assoc. (MDA). Held at Wamesit Golf in Tewksbury, the first time event was a complete success, raising nearly $700 to benefit MDA.

Participants came to play mini golf, try their luck at the treasure chest, have their faces painted and even have pictures taken with their favorite purple dinosaur and Baby Bop. The golfers won a variety of prizes, including Subway Meal Deals, MDA trolls, Wamesit Golf passes and t-shirts. Everyone had a great day while helping a good cause.

This year's top award winners, both of Tewksbury, are Jason Stokes, who received the closest to par trophy with a score of 38. Deanna MIller, the event's top fund raiser, collected $162.00 to benefit MDA. For Deanna's fabulous effort, she was awarded a $100 gift certificate to MVP Sports and a 1993 MDA/Wamesit Golf commemorative trophy.

Special thanks to the Tewksbury business community who participated in the first annual mini-golf tourney. To help defray costs, the following businesses sponsored a hole during the tourney with a $50 donation to MDA. Aubut's Liquors, Burger King, Checkmate Pizza, Global Promotions, Jerome's Fine Foods, Nikki's Convenience, Scampi's Seafood, Sharkey's Florist and Greenery, Tewksbury Diagnostic center, Tewksbury Elks, Tewksbury Florist and Greenery, Tewksbury Grand Prix, Tewksbury Paint & Hardware and Wilmington Town Crier.

Special thanks also to Ed Doherty, owner of Wamesit Golf, who donated the course for the MDA fundraisers. Thanks to Bellview Printing Company, the Town Crier and all the Deca/Marketing students at Tewksbury High School for their outstanding efforts.

Kerri, a senior at Bishop Fenwick High School, was the Catholic Central League MVP for the second straight season. This repeat all-scholastic allowed only seven earned runs in 109 innings, earning her an ERA of 0.45 . She also holds a career record of 69 wins and five losses. Lyman will attend West Point in the fall.

Paul Lyman had a successful season coaching Wilmington High School's softball team to the state title. In his four years as softball coach, he holds a 46-32 record. In addition to softball, Lyman coaches football at Fenwick and basketball at Shawsheen.

The same fish food, day after day

by Bill Conlon

Fish, like humans, commonly eat the same thing over and over again.

Sure, a lobster dinner is nice once in a while, but I'll bet you sit down to chicken at least ten times for each session with the nutcrackers and the melted butter. Some foods are just staples, and we come to rely on them for our daily fuel requirements.

The same applies to fish.

As a rule of thumb (but hardly an absolute), fish eat the same food, day after day.

And for the best chances to catch fish, you'll want to show them what they expect to see. The occasional mouse might make an amusing meal for a big bass, but there are dozens of minnows gulped down for every field mouse slurped off the surface.

So give 'em what they want! Put native minnows in front of a native bass and something fun is probably going to happen.

Luckily, native bait in plentiful in Massachusetts. With a little time and effort, there is no reason to pay for minnows, and the store-bought fish won't work half so well as the native varieties you can catch for free.

The Division of Fisheries & Wildlife permits any licensed angler to take minnows for bait (although the synopsis of the laws does not tell you which species are out of bounds. The list of protected species is arcane and bizarre, with no descriptions of the protected fish given.)

Around here, we have a common species of pond shiner that inhabits the shallows in schools of up to 100, little flesh-tone numbers that make irresistable bait. The Concord River boasts schools of thick-bodied silver shiners that pike can't resist, and the Merrimack River features an even wider variety of baitfish. Just sit and watch, and you'll see schools of minnows swim by, all for free!

The Division says licensed anglers may catch their own baitfish with a rectangular net up to 36 square feet in area, a curcular net not to exceed six feet in diameter, or a "fish trap" with openings of one inch or less. All three devices work very well, after a little practice.

Rectangular nets are often put in one location, then the minnows are chased into it, or else you can use it to just scoop up a school of shiners if the net is attached to a pole. Easy.

Circular nets are often tossed, just like you see in National Geographic specials, and there is a plastic device on the market to make throwing the net easier. The edges of the net are weighted, and when the weighted net is placed into this plastic dish, it can be flipped and "spun" all at once. The weights spread the net out in flight, and the net lands on the water already spread, trapping everything beneath it.

The simplest, and laziest, way to catch minnows is a fish trap. We've got a glass fish trap at home, but the wire mesh models work just as well. Simple put the fish trap in a shallow spot, and check it from time to time.

Silver Lake in Wilmington boasts a good population of pond shiners, and you can often see schools of the little darlin's swimming in unision in the sandy shallows. These flesh-tone wonders drive fish wild, and I enjoyed an afternoon once in which I used up a whole bucket of pond shiners, without a single one making it all the way down to the bottom. Everything from bass and pickerel to sunfish and perch inhaled the little minnows.

Be advised that pond shiners and especially river shiners have higher oxygen needs than the Arkansas and emerald shiners available in bait shops. Keep the water oxygenated, and cold if possible, and they should do nicely.

--- Tackle Box ---

I've noticed a slight increase in the frog music around swamplands and ponds lately, which is reassuring. A scientific study is now underway to determine why frogs of all sorts are disappearing, around the world. No explanation has been found yet.

Did you read about the 30-foot, near-miss meteor that was detected recently? It seems a 30-foot wide object passed within 90,000 miles of Earth, or less than half the distance of the moon and the closest pass yet discovered, and we didn't detect it until after it zoomed past. A 30-foot ball of iron and stone falling out of the sky wouldn't eradicate all life on Earth, but it certainly turn your ZIP code into a crater. Yikes.

Massachusetts can now proclaim a total of eight nesting pairs of bald eagles, with five around the Quabbin and three more on the Connecticut River. A total of eight chicks were found in the nests, and banded, while the unhappy Mama Eagles circled overhead and complained. Part of the credit of the eagle restoration is due to you, for checking off the state voluntary wildlife donation on your tax return. The state, and the eagles, thank you for your donation.

Once again, the Division is asking anybody who owns a P&M "Worm Gett'r" to destroy it, now. At least 28 deaths have been attributed to the devices, which use line current to draw worms out of the ground. Line current, 110 volts, isn't a good thing to have running through the ground while you're standing on it. P&M Enterprises is bankrupt, so no recall will be forthcoming. If you still own one, please destroy it today.

Shawsheen Tech Graduates

Fifty-three Tewksbury students and 33 from Wilmington were among the 237 seniors who were scheduled to receive diplomas Thursday, June 3, 6 p.m.

Charles Lyons, Superintendent Director will welcome candidates for graduation and their families and friends. Opening remarks will be offered by John Miller, chairman of the District School Committee. The superintendent director and school committee chair will present the diplomas and awards.

Student speakers will be Christian Botte of Wilmington and Jill Coleman of Billerica.

Botte, an electrical student, was selected earlier this year as the Outstanding Vocational/Technical student at the school; he was honored by the state Department of Education as an outstanding vocational-technical student in Mass. He won medals at the district competition of Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) in 1992 and '93 and competed at the state level. Chris was one of 10 national winners in the Servistar All-American Students award and recently returned from a winners' trip to Washington, D.C. He is a member of the Shawsheen Tech Skills Honor Society, a peer leader, and has been the recipient of a variety of citizenship awards. Under the Cooperative Education Program. Christian worked alternate weeks for James Electric in Billerica. He will attend Suffolk University with a full scholarship.

Jill Coleman specializes in health technology at Shawsheen receiving basic skills needed to pursue her ultimate goal - to be a veterinarian for exotic animals. President of her class as a junior, Jill also is a member of Shawsheen Tech Skills Honor Society, and a recipient of citizenship awards. As a sophomore, she served as a peer leader and won first place at the school's Science Fair; last year, she won third place. A singer with a band as an avocation, Jill brought that talent to Shawsheen as well. She played the leading role of Sandy in Shawsheen's February production of "Grease." Outside school, this senior spends up to 25 hours a week working part time for up to three companies.

The graduation program also includes Kristina Signoretti, the Moment of Reflection; Rose Oliveira, Pledge of Allegiance; and Michelle Ciaramaglia, President of the Class of 1993, Farewell Remarks. Dawn Kelley, organist, will provide processional and recessional music.

Wilmington girl injured in single car crash

by Jeff Nazzaro

A single-car accident on Boutwell Street Friday night has left Rebecca Gleason, 19, in Mass. General Hospital with serious injuries.

Gleason's car went off the road, struck a rock and then a tree, according to Wilmington Police. The Wilmington Fire Department responded and used the jaws of life to remove the entire top of the car and free the driver.

Gleason, who graduated this month from Wilmington High School, is in the Intensive Care Unit of Massachusetts General Hospital.

Wilmington residents graduate from MCC

Eighteen Wilmington residents were awarded degrees from Middlesex Community College during ceremonies held May 28 in Lowell Auditorium:

Steven Chisholm, Anthony Ciampa, Richard Diehl, Lauren Doucette, Jessica Falzone, Monica Falzone, Michael Gronemeyer, Deborah Holman, Peter Holman, Judith Hubbard, Tanya Pacheco, Juliette Pelletier, Deanna Polizzotti, Valerie Schiavone, Patricia Senarian, Ann Sheehan, Shelly Twohig, Michele Zaya.

Healing the inner child seminar begins July 12

Did you grow up in a family in which you suffered abuse, neglect, emotional or physical abandonment? In which your parents were absorbed in alcohol or some other addiction? In which as kids you were responsible for parenting your parents, or in which secrets kept real communication from occurring? Chances are that your life is still affected by these experiences. Issues that typically remain unresolved are intimacy, trust, control, anger, shame, and relationship problems. Different roles are learned in childhood that often are carried inappropriately into adult life.

You may have heard the idea of healing your "inner child" from childhood traumas presented by John Bradshaw on WGBH-TV and wondered if he was talking about you. However, you may not be sure how your life has been affected by your childhood experiences. This group will provide a forum for you to discover these long buried issues and provide experiences to promote healing them. Through a combination of handouts, tapes, group exercises, and sharing of life experiences,the group will help clarify the past and its continuing effect on present day living.

Karl Peters, an LICSW psychiatric social worker, whose specialty is adult children of alcoholics and substance abuse and who himself grew up with an alcoholic parent will lead the group.

Group meetings will be Monday evenings from 7 to 8:30 beginning July 12, for 10 weeks. As a non-profit agency, fees are negotiated on an individual basis depending upon insurance, community, and income. Anyone interested in joining should call Dr. Carol Golub at the Wilmington Family Counseling Service, Inc. at 508-658-9889 to register by Thursday, July 8.

Grace Fitzpatrick earned two awards

Competing with over 50 clubs having a combined membership of more than 3,300, Grace Fitzgerald, president of Tewksbury- Wilmington Emblem Club No. 381, earned two awards, one for her press book and one for press correspondent.

Elsa A. Criscitello, MA State Past President and Past President of Tewksbury/Wilmington Emblem Club, performed the installing ceremony in ritual form. Nancy Griswold, also past president of the Emblem Club was her installing chaplain.

During the fun portion of the convention both Nancy Griswold, P.P.and Joyce Gigliotti, Marshall, also of the Tewksbury/Wilmington group, took part in the evening's entertainment by performing an Irish Step Dance in honor of outgoing MA. State President Barbara Shea.

It was befitting that the entertainment for the evening in Barbara's honor be built around an Irish theme. Barbara's theme this year was "Love & Loyalty Through the Hands of Friendship" With the Claddagh as her pin, embossed within a shamrock. The shamrock denoting her Irish heritage, with the three leaves signifying what the Emblem Club is built around: truth, justice,and charity. Therefore, an evening with a flare of Irish and all its green was most appropriate.

Altron growing explosively!

by Capt. Larz Neilson

Altron is located on Jewel Drive in Wilmington. It is a manufacturer of printed circuit boards and backplanes, used by high technology companies. Altron started in Woburn in 1970, at 260 New Boston St., with 4,000 square feet of space.

In 1976 it moved to Jewel Drive in Wilmington. It had 30,000 square feet.

Today it has 185,000 square feet and about 740 employees. There is a second plant in Mountain View, California, with 14,000 square feet.

Altron sells to high technology plants in the United States, France, Germany and Israel.

On February 15 of this year the company received a certificate as an ISO Registered Company. That certificate provides for worldwide acceptance of Altron's Quality Plan and Products. It is a very important recognition of the commitment to Total Quality, of everything done in Altron.

The ISO 9002 Audit of Altron has a history which started in Bavaria, Germany, during the 1890's. There had been a number of accidents. A group of businessmen started a self-help group to do safety and quality inspections. Similar groups were started in other regions of Germany.

Each organization was responsible for the business in their "hometown" region. On occasion they could do business in another region, but only if they were the ones with the expertise needed.

The ISO recognition of Altron, on February 15 meant that the firms were free to do business anywhere - even in Wilmington, Massachusetts.

The result-an explosion of values. Conservatively, estimated earnings are being projected as a growth of 50 percent. Sales and earnings have doubled.

In early October of 1993, Altron stock was valued at $4 in the NASDAQ markets.

In early June, Altron was worth $16. That was a 400 percent increase.

Miceli announces road repair grants

State Rep. James R. Miceli (D-Tewksbury/Wilmington) has announced that the legislature has passed a measure which would allow towns and communities to repair local bridges and roads. Rep. Miceli feels that this measure will have a positive impact in both Tewksbury and Wilmington. The bill alters the manner by which local communities spend state funds on their local road and bridge projects.

"This proposal will allow the communities to repair their roads which are in dire need. The bill provides up to $219 million in aid for the specific purpose of these repairs. The distribution of funds will be handled by the Mass. Highway Department, to ensure that the funds are evenly distributed to the towns in need." said Rep. Miceli.

By providing this money Rep. Miceli feels that the work will be done more efficiently as the money is provided up front rather than in reimbursements. Communities will now now be forced to borrow the needed money and will be able to have these repairs begun more rapidly. Towns will save money required for interest payments required with short term loans.

"This action allows the state to provide a service for the towns that will make the repair of damaged roads much more easy and accessible to individual towns and communities" ended Rep. Miceli.

Alarmed

By KEN MAGUIRE

A 46-year-old Boston man named Ramon Torres is wanted by police in connection with over 100 housebreaks in many Rte. 93 North communities, especially Woburn, Reading and Wilmington.

Police say Torres picks out homes with high bushes in back, forces open a door or window, and makes off with what he can most easily carry, all while the home-owner is busy at work, out for the day, or on vacation.

Individuals such as Torres have been responsible for grief among many families, most of whom say goodbye forever to their prized possessions when a housebreak is discovered. Some of those possessions - stereos and televisions - can be replaced, albeit at some cost, but wedding rings and other items with sentimental value usually cannot.

How does someone protect against thieves and burglars? Well, since the average person cannot afford to stay home all day and be a security guard, the logical solution would be to pay someone - or something - else to do it for you. A home security system can be that guard.

Home alarm systems can't guarantee that you will never be robbed of personal items in your home, but they will greatly reduce the chances. In most cases, they are your last line of defense after police and neighbors.

Police departments are busy and often understaffed, preventing them from patrolling neighborhoods as often as residents would like. In addition, neighbors themselves don't help as much as they could. Most "Neighborhood Watch" programs do just that - they "watch" as suspicious characters snoop around yards and end up walking off with their bags full.

"It's not going to go away, especially in this economy" said Jim Wiswall, co-owner of North Shore Protection. "People are going to desperate measures to get money today."

"I came home from work and I was cleaned out."

Statistics show that, on the average, the number of housebreaks in the Middlesex East area this year is about even with last year's figure. The frightening fact, however, is that an increasing number of breaks are occurring at night - when residents are asleep at home.

Just this week, two breaks were reported to Reading police. One occurred late Monday night, the other early Tuesday morning. In both instances, residents were fast asleep and didn't know of the intruder until they woke up in the morning. Windows were found open at both homes. In one, the resident didn't learn of the break until a truck driver called from New Hampshire - he found her pocketbook on the side of a road. Only then did she find the open window.

A home alarm certainly could not have hurt in those situations. And an alarm may have prevented the loss of valuables from a recent break in Malden, where home-owner Derrick Battle, a supervisor for a local trucking company, was disgusted to learn of his loss.

"I came home from work and I was cleaned out of most of my stuff," Battle said. "I couldn't believe it. I don't know if an alarm would have helped but I'm going to look into getting one because this just isn't right. This is my world, and its got to be protected one way or another."

The market is full of a variety of systems to choose from, but which is the best? The answer, says Wiswall, a 17-year-veteran of the home security profession, is a system that is "central-station monitored," meaning it is in contact with the police station. He said the old way - wireless systems - leave much to be desired.

"In my opinion, you should certainly be central-station mon-

LINDA GUIDI, HEALTH EDUCATOR at Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center, gives students a sampling of techniques used in "Chokesaving for Infants and children."

Wellness Week at Family Center

Learning about good health and nutrition was never so much fun. Fifth grade students from the Wildwood, Woburn Street, and Shawsheen schools in Wilmington recently participated in "Wellness Week," a learning adventure of planned activities held at the Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center in Wilmington.

Winchester Hospital health care professionals spent several days with the students teaching them about good nutrition, ways to stay fit and healthy, ways to avoid potentially harmful or dangerous situations, and what to do in an emergency. They even got a sampling of techniques used in "Chokesaving for infants and children."

The students received a tour of the center, including the center's walk-in urgent care area, physical therapy, the laboratory and radiology.

Dr. Dale K. Klatzker elected President of MCMH

Eastern Middlesex Human Services President and CEO, Dr. Dale K. Klatzker, has been elected to serve as President of the Mental Health Corporation of Massachusetts, Inc. (MCHM) for a two year term beginning May 1993.

MCHM represents a network of more than 90 community mental health centers, clinics and providers throughout Massachusetts, who employ more than 3,000 professionals and serve 10,000 consumers annually. MCHM's efforts benefit troubled families and children, the chronic and acutely mentally ill, and provide access to quality mental health care for all persons throughout the Commonwealth. This strong network of community-based human service providers continues to develop more creative treatment plans and programs to provide the most efficient, effective and least costly treatment available.

Dr. Klatzker brings over 18 years of experience in the field of mental health to his new responsibilities. During the past five and a half years, he has served as President and CEO of Eastern Middlesex Human Services.

About the Towns

"About The Towns" covers recent events in the 13-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper for up-to-date information about your city or town. We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About The Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

NORTH READING ON VERGE OF BECOMING DRY TOWN - Because of a cash-flow problem, water restrictions have been instituted in North Reading where residents are now on an odd-even house number regimen for lawn, garden and car watering.

After losing a major municipal well to industrial pollution several years ago, the town is buying about 20 percent of its water from water-rich Andover where according to North Reading Town Engineer Stephen Casazza, "the price per gallon is slightly high," amounting to $400,000 annually.

Maybe North Reading could iron out its problems by importing some domestic Reading water - it would probably go for less.

STONEHAM PREPARES FOR TOWN DAY - The Stoneham Chamber of Commerce Town Day Committee is accepting reservations for the 10th Annual Town Day which will be held on Saturday, September 18th and dedicated to late Safety Officer Al Duff, emcee for many years.

Until August 21st, reservations will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis, with, according to the "Stoneham Independent," the overall best interest of Town Day considered.

New this year will be a craft pavilion located on the empty lot between Winter and Church Streets and featuring Stoneham's artisans. Other activities will take place on Central, Emerson, Church, and Winter Streets as well as "all around Town Hall."

For more information, call (617) 438-0001.

MEDFORD ROTARY HELPS LIFELINE - Established in 1984 with a $9,000 Rotary grant, Lawrence Memorial Hospital's Lifeline program now serves almost 200 homebound elderly and disabled.

Medford Rotary president-elect Joseph Mahoney recently presented LMH with a $2,500 check to plug into Lifeline's electronic monitoring program.

AND WAKEFIELD ROTARY GIVES POLICE A RIDE - More personal than cruisers ... more mobile than foot patrols ... able to loop the lake in a single round, mountain bikes are the latest addition to the Wakefield Police Department.

Thanks to a donation from Wakefield Rotary, police will be joining the likes of their Lexington, Arlington, and soon Boston peers on bike patrol.

Officers John Lingiewicz, David Dushane, James Scott, and Richard Meehan have volunteered for the mission which, according to the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," will "cut down on the annual lewdness of some people," especially certain denizens who pop up from time to time in the Lake Quannapowitt area.

To keep everyone guessing, bike patrol hours will be "flexible and unpredictable." Officers will be "clearly identifiable," outfitted in shorts and short-sleeve shirts.

WINCHESTER TO RENOVATE ... its library.

Winchester Town Meeting has approved a $77,000 Board of Library Trustees request for funds for the first phase of a proposed library renovation, and Assistant Library Director Barbara Yuan reports that a $5,000 grant from the Library Services and Construction Act has been approved.

According to the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," the $77,000 will go toward the development of reno-

Golden Knights parachute at Hanscom

Boston resident Cpl. Scott Campbell will be part of the Golden Nights Parachute Team, jumping several times during the two-day Air Show and Open House at Hanscom Field June 26 and 27.

The team will open the Air Show each day with a flag jump at 9:20 a.m. Flying activity will continue through the day until the Air Force Thunderbirds aerial demonstration team begins its pre-flying show at 1:30 p.m. This year marks the 40th anniversary of the Thunderbirds team.

The Golden Knights begin their show at an altitude of 12,500 feet, almost 2 1/2 miles above the airfield. BAsed at Fort Bragg, NC, the team was formed in 1959 and has more than 6,000 demonstrations to its credit. The Golden Knights have performed in all 50 states and 42 foreign countries.

In addition to its jump at the opening ceremonies, the team will perform its full demonstration at noon.

Among the highlights of the Open House will be a flyby of the F-117A stealth fighter Saturday and Sunday. Also on tap will be a short demonstration of the capabilities of the F-15 Eagle fighter, the A-10 Thunderbolt II attack plane, the Navy's F/A-18 Hornet fighter-attack plane, helicopters, World War II vintage aircraft, the world's smallest jet, Arlington's Mike Goulian flying aerobatics and a glider aerobatic act.

"On the ground, we'll have more than 80 planes on static display, ranging from fighters to the huge C-5 Galaxy transport," said project officer Lt. Col. Dave Eichhorn. The C-5, America's largest plane, has room inside to park six intercity buses.

"We're sure it will be the greatest air show ever held in this area. Parking and admission are free and everyone is welcome to bring lawn chairs, picnic lunches and have a nice day of family fun," Eichhorn said.

Gates will open both days at 7:30 a.m. To reach the base take either exit 30 or 31 west from Route 128. For recorded Air Show information call (617) 377-5192.

Alarmed

itored these days because how many times have you heard a car alarm go off and done absolutely anything?," Wiswall said. "The same has become true with the home."

With the wireless method, Wiswall explained, "You almost become a slave to the system. You're chronically watching it for battery failure. And with the amount of time its been out there, the reliability isn't where it should be."

The wireless system is obviously going to be cheaper than the central-station monitored one, but there are other options to consider as well. "Perimeter protection," consisting of door and window sensors, are a must, and "interior protection," featuring motion sensors, are recommended. A keypad located beside your front door allows you to arm the system.

Prices can range anywhere from $300 up to $5,000, with the high end being for the Fort Knox-type protection seen in mansions and extravagant homes. On the average, a home security shopper can expect to pay between $1,000 and $2,000 for a quality system. A little high you say?

"Your home is probably the biggest investment you're ever going to make, so to spend between $1,000 and $2,500 is not a lot of money," Wiswall said. "Some people say 'I can't believe it costs that much to put an alarm in,' and they'll be sitting right next to a $4,000 stereo. Where's the logic there?"

Home security systems can certainly be had for less than these figures, but the adage "You get what you pay for" always seems to creep its ugly head up. Large companies, such as ADT or Honeywell, advertise that they can install a system that will not break your piggy-bank.

However, those companies are looking to "get in and get out," and pick up high monthly charges, according to Wiswall. He said their average monthly charge for central-station monitoring is between $25-35, when it really should be $18.

Prices aside, the main problem today with most home alarms armed for central-station monitoring is that an experienced thief can render a system useless by cutting phone lines. By doing so, there can be no communication to the police station.

Wakefield Police Sergeant Gerald Curran, who works in the department's detective division, recalled a recent case when a burglar cut phone lines. He said the home-owner suffered a "substantial loss."

Despite the problem, says Sgt. Curran, "It's better than the alternative of not having an alarm."

But not to worry - alarm systems can be equipped so that if lines are cut, a radio transmission will immediately be sent to police. The radio call is new and would be an additional feature to most systems.

Another problem with home security systems are false alarms. They used to be solely a problem for police departments and towns. Police wasted time responding to the false alarm, and the town ended up footing the bill.

Today, most towns charge fees for numerous false alarms. Usually, a person will be allowed three per year, but after that, they are billed in $25 increments. The fourth of the year will cost $25, the next $50, and so on. Wiswall says people must learn about their systems right away.

"I think you'll see that most false alarms are created in the first week or two of using the system," Wiswall said. "If things are done properly, you can keep your false alarms to a minimum. He explained that there are four factors to reduce false alarms: proper installation; quality of equipment; time spent instructing the subscriber; and monitoring by police (central station).

For people who want alarm systems, but cannot afford to get into the central-station monitoring, there are alternatives. While not as effective as the more elaborate systems, the basic loud alarm can sometimes be enough to scare off a would-be burglar.

In addition, having security stickers pasted on doors or windows can be successful. It would obviously be impossible to determine how many breaks door stickers have prevented, but even if one burglar approached a house, saw the sticker, and decided to stay away, then it has done its job.

Yard signs serve the same purpose. A burglar may not even get past your lawn if he or she sees a security sign in the lawn. To assist police, some signs have reflective house numbers posted on them for easier identification at night.

For home security shoppers looking at the high-end price range, there are many "goodies" to choose from. A keypad can be installed in a second-floor master bedroom, allowing a person to arm the whole house without going downstairs. Also, fire or ambulance personnel can be called from the keypad using a "panic button."

Another "goodie" with some systems allow a parent to arm the doors or windows, while letting a child run free in the house. If the child opens the door or window to leave, a chime will sound alerting the parent.

With or without the "goodies," an alarm system can protect yourself and loved ones. So to be protected, consider the benefits of being armed with a solid home security system. Barring that, buy a vicious Rottweiler or Doberman - they should do the trick too.

vation designs and the obtaining of more accurate cost estimates.

The designer (what can we say? it's Winchester) selection committee - actually, Designer Selection Committee - will consist of the trustees, one engineer and one public person.

No architect will be invited to serve on the committee because Library Director Lynda Willis cautioned the trustees that a library building consultant for the Board of Library Commissioners expressed concern that an architect might dominate the proceedings of a committee whose main mission is to select an architect.

TOOTH FOOD

The first thing to teach your children about preventive tooth care is that good eating habits are important. Foods that keep the whole body healthy will also keep teeth, gums and jawbones in good condition. Milk, cheese, meat, eggs, vegetables, fruits, whole grain breads and cereals are excellent for healthy teeth and gums.

If your child eats between meals, remember that snacks should be low in sugar. In-between-meal treats such as candy, cookies, ice cream, sugared chewing gum and sweet drinks may play havoc with a child's teeth. Bacteria which are normally present in the mouth combine with sugar to form acids - acids which attack tooth enamel. Eventually, it causes cavities.

When sweets are eaten between meals there is more apt to be a chance for cavities to develop, since the child will probably not brush right after - before acids have a chance to form.

Some toothworthy snacks for children are: apples, oranges, bananas, plums, peaches, fruit juices, milk and cheese. The greater distance between sweet junk foods and teeth, the better..

Prepared as a public service to promote better dental health.

Stone Zoo benefit

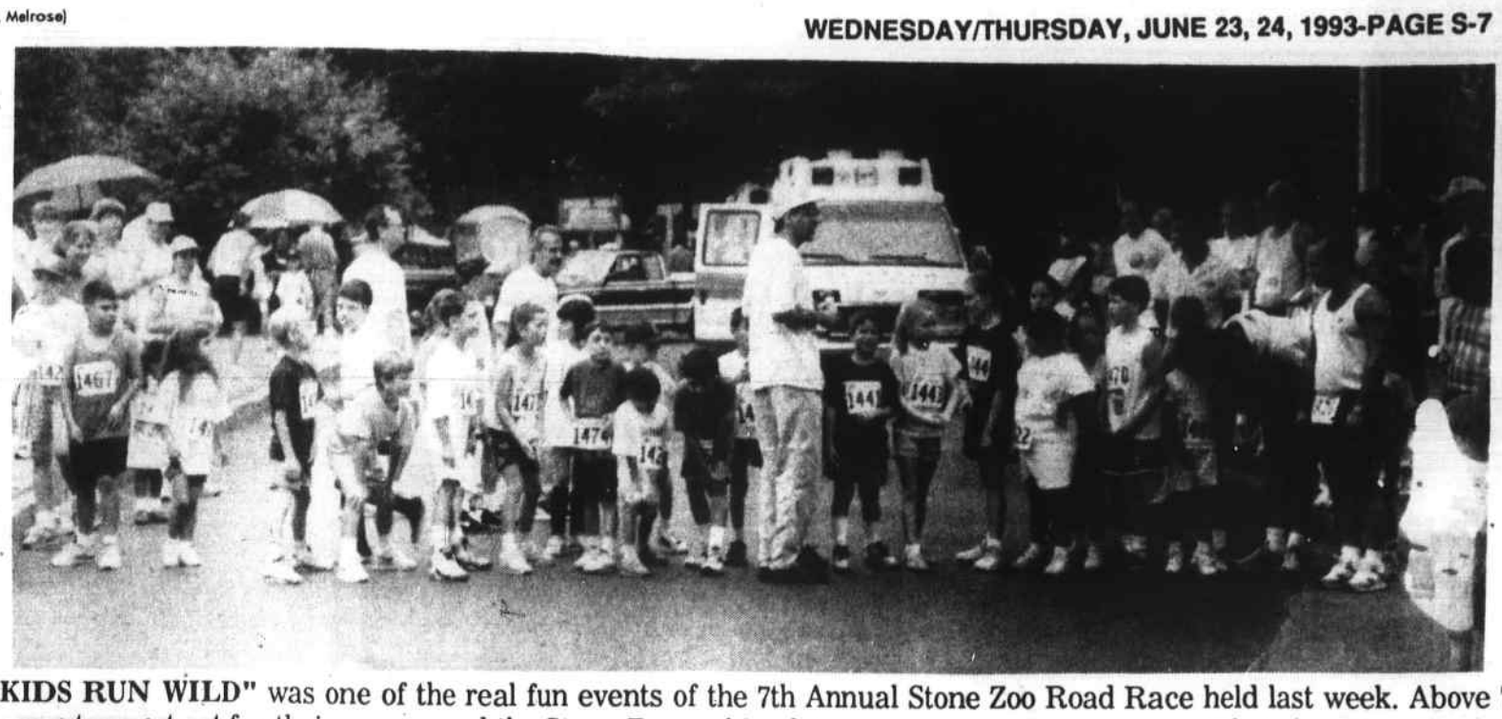

Run Wild Road Race

The 7th Annual Run Wild Road Race at Stone Zoo may have been the best yet! Over 170 runners (ages 14-65) battled this challenging five-mile scenic course around Spot Pond under drizzling and overcast skies.

The top finishers were: Mens Division - 1st - Mike Cronin, Ipswich, 24:38; 2nd - John Ayers, Beverly, 24:43; 3rd - Gerry Squires, Wakefield, 25:27; 4th Paul Ducey, Salem, 26:42; 5th - Steve Pero, Medford, 27:03: Women's division - 1st - Gail Heinrich, Waltham, 33:59; 2nd Diane Zydlewski, Marlborough, 35:00; 3rd - Sara Bonnell, Winchester, 35:17.

The Kids-Run-Wild was also a big hit. Seventy-five kids raced (the youngest just "toddled") around the Zoo parking lot encouraged by Peter Rabbit and Madeline from The Family Channel, the Purple Dinosaur, and the "costumed" Polar Bear.

Plenty of free raffle prizes, refreshments, trophies and medals rounded out a very successful event. Congratulations to all the runners. Thanks to Continental Cablevision and The Family Channel, many local businesses and individuals who donated prizes and refreshments, and to the many volunteers who continue to care so much about the future of Stone Zoo. For information about future events, please call Friends of Stone Zoo at (617) 438-7459.

"KIDS RUN WILD" was one of the real fun events of the 7th Annual Stone Zoo Road Race held last week. Above 75 youngsters get set for their run around the Stone Zoo parking lot. (Photo by Susan Dacier)

Wellness in pregnancy course

Wellness in pregnancy comes from the right balance of proper exercise, good nutrition, emotional support and stress reduction. Body in Balance, a health and exercise class for expectant mothers, offers Moms-to-be all of these important concepts.

Designed for women in their fourth month of pregnancy or more, Body in Balance meets every Monday and Wednesday from 6 to 7 p.m., beginning Monday, July 5, for four weeks. The program, offered by Melrose-Wakefield Hospital, is held in the MWH Family Education Center (formerly Franklin School), located at the corner of Franklin and Main streets in Melrose.

The course has four components: exercise, nutritional advice, breathing and relaxation techniques, and emotional support. Each class begins with a series of stretching and toning exercises to help each woman develop and maintain good muscle support and proper alignment throughout her pregnancy. Heart rates are carefully monitored to ensure safety for both mother and fetus.

The program was created and is instructed by a certified childbirth educator and a physical therapy assistant who teach safe and effective stretching and toning exercises to expectant mothers.

There is a fee and registration is required for Body in Balance. Please call the Childbirth Education Department, Melrose-Wakefield Hospital, at (617) 979-3408 or (617) 979-3515.

MOVIES

"Last Action Hero",

by Rochelle Flynn

"Last Action Hero." Starring Arnold Schwarzenegger, Austin O'Brien, Charles Dance, Robert Prosky. Directed by John McTiernan. Produced by Steve Roth. Screenplay by Shane Black, David Arnott. Rated PG-13.

Part fairy tale, part comedy, part action adventure, "Last Action Hero," is a fast-paced tongue-in-cheek escape that is nearly a good movie. And if it hadn't tried so hard to be so many different things, it might have been a good movie.

Eleven-year-old Danny Madigan (Austin O'Brien) lives for the movies. He especially loves action flicks starring his favorite celluloid hero, Jack Slater, played by Arnold Schwarzenegger. Danny will skip school to see the Slater flicks, of which there have been several sequels. He even sneaks out of his house one night at midnight to catch a preview at his friend's run-down, and soon to be sold, movie theater.

But pal Nick (Robert Prosky), who grew up in his now dilapidated cinema, has a secret surprise for Danny. Nick has a magic ticket given to him as a kid by the famous magician Houdini. Once Danny rips that ticket in half, he discovers he can cross right into the movies. But landing in the middle of his movie hero's world causes both Danny, and Jack Slater, to question their lives.

The best, and funniest part of the flick is when Danny starts to learn that movies may be amusing, but they are not substitution for real life. And Slater is none to happy to learn he is a figment of someone's imagination. There are some wild cameos as everyone from Sharon Stone to Maria Shriver help to poke fun at the movie business. And no one needles himself more than Schwarzenegger.

The action scenes in this flick are top notch. Chases, explosions, people dodging everything from bullets to dynamite to giant cranes. But there are so many action scenes that they begin to wear thin after a while. Ditto for the script as a whole. The plot just begins to careen out of control when Danny and Jack Slater cross back into the real world. By the time Jack and his arch enemy, played by Charles Dance, learn that movie tricks don't work in the real world, "Last Action Hero" has become as engrossing as a lecture.

The point that movies can't substitute for real life is inherent in this film. When screenwriters Shane Black and David Arnott keep the movie at a comic book level, using all the plot machinations of a Wiley E. Coyote cartoon, then this adventure is pure, brainless fun. But it goes on for too long and the gags wear quite thin about three-quarters of the way through. All the good intentions really begin to feel hollow after a while, as the plot is running on fumes and not substance.

As entertaining as the movie is at first, it just gets too silly to garner a whole-hearted recommendation for adults. However, it may be a good choice for kids weaned on violent films. The mentality here is definitely preteen, and the message can't be missed.

Lord's Academy expands to include high school students

WOBURN — Everywhere people turn they hear about problems with the educational system in the country.

Legislation is even now being framed to improve our public schools in Mass.

Out of concern for this need, The Lord's Academy was founded in 1987 by Pastors Ron and Denise Satrape, in the basement of The Lord's Gathering Church on Main Street in Malden.

The school and church quickly outgrew their facilities and relocated to a rented 22,500 sq. foot facility in the Tower Office Park complex (owned by Cummings Properties) located off Washington Street in Woburn.

The Lord's Academy began with only kindergarten and first grades. In only a few years, TLA had grown to include grades 1-6. After moving to Woburn, they grew to include over 170 students in grades K-8. Enrollment is expected to increase to over 200 students from grades K-12 this fall.

The Lord's Academy is a non-profit/equal opportunity organization

First female graduates

Austin Commencement

Austin Preparatory School of Reading conferred diplomas on 63 members of the Class of 1993 at ceremonies held at the school on Sunday, June 6. The Graduation Weekend began with a Baccalaureate Mass celebrated in the school chapel on Saturday night. Principal celebrant and homilist was Rev. John Harrington, Chair of the school's Religious Education Department. Concelebrating with Fr. Harrington was Rev. Kenneth Healey, S.M. of the Dept. of Foreign Languages.

The religious service was followed by a catered dinner for the graduates and their families. Class President Keith Moran of Reading and Class Moderator Mr. Brian Jackson presented the school with the gift of several ornamental trees.

At the Commencement Exercises on Sunday the invocation was delivered by Fr. Harrington. The Salutatory Address was given by Kelly-Ann Garceau of Everett. Kelly-Ann is the first young woman to receive a diploma from Austin Preparatory School. She will attend Holy Cross.

The following awards were presented at the ceremony: The Cardinal Medeiros Medal for General Excellence , the Medal for Russian, the Medal for Mathematics, and the Medal for Physical Science, to Brian Sensale of Somerville; the Medal for History and the Medal for Latin to Nathan Piccini of Lynn; the Medal for Religious Education and the Medal for Business Administration to Michael Brewster of Woburn.

Also, the Medal for English to Christopher Carbone of Wakefield; the Medal for Social Studies to Jason Strunk of Billerica; the Medal for Biological Science to Eric Dube of Pelham, NH; the Medal for French to Robert Sullivan of Billerica; and the Medal for Spanish to Andrew McCaul of Wakefield.

The Austin Medal, a special honor awarded by the Austin Board of Trustees for distinguished service to the school, was presented to faculty member and Director of the schools' Library Media Center George M. Miller of Reading. His many years of outstanding service as teacher, librarian, and administrator were recalled by Trustee Chairman II. Andrew Brodecki, who made the presentation. Also honored at the ceremony were faculty members Vito Adamo, David Gramling, and Academic Dean Thomas Enright, who have all served the school for 25 years or more.

The Commencement Address was delivered by Sister Zita Fleming, C.S.J., who is the Director of AIDS Ministry for the Archdiocese of Boston, and a former administrator at Regis College. Sister Zita called upon the graduates to become heroes and heroines to the hungry and the homeless and the suffering in a broken world.

The Valedictory Address was delivered by Brian Sensale of Somerville. Brian spoke about his special ties to the community of Austin Prep. He will attend Harvard University this fall. Diplomas were conferred by Headmaster Paul J. Moran, assisted by Mr. Thomas Commeret, Assistant headmaster. Mr. Moran also delivered the Charge to the Senior Class. Dean of Studies Thomas T. Enright was Master of Ceremonies. The Benediction was pronounced by Rev. Kenneth Healey, S.M.

Melissa Ostuni selected as U-13 state soccer team player

Melissa Ostuni, an 11-year-old from Lynnfield who attends our Lady of the Assumption School, was selected as a U-13 state team player under the Massachusetts Youth Soccer Association's Olympic Development Program.

The Massachusetts Youth Soccer Association's Olympic Development Program is part of a national program whose primary purpose is to identify and train the most promising youth soccer players.

Following five weeks of tryouts held at various parts of the state, Ostuni was notified that she was one of the 22 girls chosen for the team. Ostuni will train under the direction of a state team coach with 21 other players from all over Massachusetts. Among the 22 players chosen, 18 of them will represent Massachusetts at Region I competition held in New York in June.

Ostuni has been a Division I player in Lynnfield for the past five years and is currently a player on the North Shore Storm Club soccer team. Melissa is the daughter of Gaspar and Marlene Ostuni of Timberhill Lane in Lynnfield.

George Nicolson of Winchester told me to place my hand on the glass on his office door, then he asked, "Do you feel the 'pane'?"... Please, Folks, don't be junk collectors. When you build a shelf, it gets filled up so another shelf is built. That's why my house, garage, cellar and yard tool shed looks like a junk yard.

Kathy and I have agreed - buy something new, throw something old "out." She tried to push an old easy chair out the door on rubbish day and I was sitting in it!... No one ever climbed a mountain by looking at it and you can't discover new horizons unless you have the courage to lose sight of the shore.

Aunt Nora is looking over my shoulder as I'm typing. She said to me, "Chipper, your Uncle John Shea was right when he told you, 'Chipper, the mighty oak tree was once a nut like you!'"

Kathy has the frame of a French creation, the Eiffel Tower!... Folks, the beautiful women from the Maritime Provinces equal it but no one can top the beauty of the Swedish ladies. Their beauty is not only external, but, what is far more important, they possess the inner calm, peace and tranquility that is known as charisma. I visited Prince Edward Island on my vacation last summer. It's the home of Anne of Green Gables and I hope to go back again this summer. I love to see a beautiful face and figure, hey, just because there's a little "snow" on the roof doesn't mean the "furnace" is out!

When Father John Crispo was on vacation last year in New Hampshire, he wanted to mail a post card to Father Martin Ryan, so he asked a kid if he would show him where the post office was situated. The young man gave him directions and Father John thanked him saying, "Come to church Sunday lad and I'll show you the way to Heaven." "I don't think so, Father," the lad replied, "You didn't even know the way to the post office."

Years ago Uncle John Shea was bothered by so many door to door salesmen he put up a sign on his front door saying, "We shoot every third salesman; the second one just left!"...

Folks, don't look under the hood of your cars if you are "faint-hearted." The maze of wires, cables, switches and solenoids are understood only by experts. I personally know several "back-yard" mechanics who had to give up because of the sophisticated machines and computers needed to analyze the modern automobile engine. We in the Middlesex East area are fortunate to have many expert mechanics at Crest, Lannan, Burlington Dodge, Lawless, Bonnell Ford, Stoneham Ford, Honda Barn, etc.

A high school student asked Albert Einstein, "What do you do, sir?" "I study science," replied the gray headed genius. "Really!" exclaimed the surprised student, "I finished science last year!"

GARDENING GUIDE

Bountiful Blooms For Roses

(NAPS)—Since roses are heavy feeders, it's important to fertilize them at certain critical times. A generous application of fertilizer in spring will produce luxurious and vigorous flowers.

Dry fertilizers are difficult to apply with accuracy and slow to take effect. A water soluble fertilizer, such as Stern's Miracle-Gro® All Purpose Plant Food is already dissolved when applied. This allows quick penetration to the roots as well as rapid absorption into the plant. Miracle-Gro fertilizer will not damage the foliage, and there's no danger of "burning" if package directions are followed.

You can keep your roses blooming almost throughout summer and fall by feeding them every 2 to 3 weeks throughout the entire growing season with a water soluble (liquid) plant food.

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

Andy Rooney (of 60 Minutes) is one of my favorite commentators. He said recently that scholastic excellence in America is slowly but surely becoming a rarity. He and I agree that the blame is placed wrongly on teachers and the curriculum. The best teachers in the world cannot teach a "lamppost."

The fault lies generally at home and parents' apathy toward their children's home study assignments. Those of you who read Woodchips know that I said, "For every man or woman who goes up on a stage to receive a diploma or academic honor there's a father or mother or, in many cases, a wife or husband who share in that glory." They may have helped support the graduate when he or she was about to fall, gave encouragement to keep going when all seemed lost and now they share in the applause of the people. Woodchips takes great pleasure in congratulating all graduates in the Middlesex East area and especially Frank and Lorraine Mazzoni of Wilmington whose lovely daughter, Leah, was named Valedictorian of the Wilmington High School Class of 1993. It proves Andy Rooney right -- Good education begins at home!

George Guyette is a gentleman farmer who has a wife who always complains about living on a farm. The three boys and two girls despise it, too. So, George decided to put up a sign on the front gate that said, "The Belly Acres Farm."

Every fall there's a prize for the largest pumpkin grown in the Middlesex East area. Bob Burns didn't fall off the turnip wagon. He offered a prize of $10 for the biggest potato grown in Woburn last summer. When the contest was over, Bob paid the winner $10 but Bobby put away a "winter's supply" of potatoes, at the bargain price of $10.

Aunt Nora proved to everyone that she's no Julia Childs at the first summer cookout last Sunday. The beef patties she cooked and served tasted awful. "For crying out loud!" I shouted, "What are you trying to do, poison us?" Then, I added, "Maybe you put too much lighter fluid on the charcoal?" "Oh!" Aunt Nora exclaimed, "It goes on the charcoal?"

Maternity Outlet clothing store opens in Reading

Using the true discount concept, Alan Santamaria has opened his new maternity clothing store in a bare bones warehouse showroom in Reading.

Clothes are tagged at 40 percent off for customers who have coupons. The prices means that a career dress sells for $40 and stirrup pants and sweaters go for $20 each.

"It's not a typical retail space, but maternity is not a typical market," Santamaria said. Women who buy a wardrobe they know they will wear for only a short time "want to spend less and want to get a good bargain."

The discount shop, is open at Walker's Brook Drive in Reading.

Looking forward to a great opening rush, restocking isn't a problem. Maternity Outlet has an exclusive relationship with Lady in Waiting, a manufacturer in Avon, selling only their clothes.

Its Avon store operates out of Lady in Waiting's warehouse on weekends. Stock includes store returns, overruns and some outdated merchandise. Much of it is first quality.

A 90's version of the baby boom, combined with an economic recession, make a discount maternity shop an attractive business venture, Santamaria said.

"I know from experience that maternity clothing has always gotten the back corner of every department store," Santamaria said. "It's always dimly lit, and it doesn't turn. A lot of department stores are not selling it anymore, and that's created a niche."

Santamaria and his partner, Barbara O'Conner, approached Lady in Waiting and convinced the company to give their idea a try. Coupons also are available in Middlesex East and in the Boston papers.

The business operates on a shoe-string. The Reading store has a single cash register on a folding table, but the clothing is attractively displayed. Dressing rooms are moveable, with frames of plastic pipe. The weekend-only hours limit the need for sales help, although the business is looking to hire a manager. Maternity Warehouse is open only Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays. The phone number is 944-7074.
